

Manchu script text, likely a historical inscription, arranged in multiple columns. The script is highly stylized and dense, characteristic of Manchu writing. The text is arranged in approximately 10 columns, with each column containing several lines of characters. The overall appearance is that of a heavily used or possibly damaged document, with some areas appearing darker and more obscured than others.

TAFEL 41. Mandchurischer Text der vorigen Inschrift.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or manuscript. The text is densely packed and covers the upper portion of the page.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, continuing from the left page. The text is densely packed and covers the upper portion of the page.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, continuing from the upper section. The text is densely packed and covers the lower portion of the page.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, continuing from the left page. The text is densely packed and covers the lower portion of the page.