

Handwritten Mongolian script in vertical columns, arranged in a grid-like fashion. The text is densely packed and appears to be a formal inscription or document. The script is a traditional form of Mongolian, likely used in official or religious contexts. The columns are separated by thin vertical lines, and the overall layout is highly organized. The text is written in a dark ink on a light-colored background, which is now heavily stained and discolored.

TAFEL 42. Mongolischer Text der Inschrift auf Tafel 40.

